

METHOD AND SYSTEM FOR FACILITATING INTERACTIVE COMMUNICATION

Abstract of the Disclosure

An embodiment of a method for facilitating interactive communication is disclosed 5 herein. A mediated communication session is facilitated between a first communication device and a second communication device. Facilitating the mediated communication session includes receiving a request for implementing an interactive communication session. After receiving the request for implementing the interactive communication session, a reply for accepting the request for implementing the interactive communication session is received. The interactive 10 communication session between the first communication device and a third communication device is implemented in response to receiving the reply for accepting the request for implementing the interactive communication session.